

Everything you need to know about completing a commercial invoice

Why do you need to complete a commercial invoice?

- It is the basis for your customs declaration.
- It clearly describes the goods and their value.
- It helps to determine customs duties to be paid.
- It helps you to avoid any customs delays and deliver your shipment smoothly.
- Without a commercial invoice, you are unable to ship overseas.

General tips for completing a commercial invoice

You should prepare a commercial invoice in advance of your shipment collection

Be accurate and provide as much detail about the goods that you're exporting

Three signed copies – one original and two copies – are required and should be included with your shipment. Make sure you also keep a copy of the original signed commercial invoice for your own records

When possible, include a harmonized tariff code. This global system of classification speeds up exports, reduces delays and can help you avoid any additional fees or charges

Ensure that you have clearly stated your reason for exporting on the document, e.g. gift

Shipment Details

Tracking. Tracking number is the number shown on your shipping label (automatically generated when you create a shipment in UPS shipping systems). If there is more than one package, you should use the lead or first tracking number Invoice. Invoice number is assigned by the shipper if applicable.

Date. This should be the date the transaction took place in the seller's records.

Tip. Getting the date of sale / transaction correct is particularly important when goods are being purchased under a letter of credit.

PO. Purchase Order number is assigned by the shipper if applicable.

Terms of Sale. (Incoterm) refers to the billing terms on the invoice. The terms state who (seller or buyer) is responsible for paying various costs - shipping, insurance, import tax and duty charges - and clarify the point at which the goods change ownership.

Reason for export. For example, whether shipment is a sale, a gift, an item for repair, etc. It's particularly important to mention the reason for export.

Package Details

						E. Package Details >

Package Details

Units. Refers to the quantity of the merchandise, i.e. the number of individual items per description type being sent.

U/M. Abbreviation for Units of Measure - whether the items are listed as individual, bundle, roll, etc.

Description of Goods. This is where you need to provide a detailed description of what items are in the package(s). The detailed descriptions you provide are used by the destination brokerage department to assess and apply the import country's duty and tax on the goods being sent.

The details of the description should include:

- WHAT IT IS
- WHAT MATERIALS IT'S MADE OF
- WHAT THE ITEM IS USED FOR

Harmonised Tariff Codes. If available, include this to assist the clearance of your goods.

Tip. In case you cannot identify the tariff code, that is where a broker can support.

Package Details

Units	U/M	Description of Goods	Harm. Code	C/O	Unit Value	Total Value
						E. Package Details >

Country of Origin (C/O). This is the country where the goods were manufactured or assembled NOT the country they are being shipped from, e.g., if goods made in Italy are being shipped from the US, the C/O is Italy, not the US.

Tip. Check if your shipment qualifies for preferential agreements which means you might benefit from reduced tariffs.

Unit value. Is the individual value of the item e.g. if you have 15 shirts at £10 each, the unit value is £10

Total unit value. Is the value of all the items combined e.g. if you have 15 shirts at £10 each, the total value is £150

Tip. Be precise and include a valuation figure that is accurate to your knowledge. If customs officials at the destination country have reason to believe the valuation of your goods is not correct this can be a reason for them to hold a package for further investigation. It's important to recognise that all materials have an intrinsic value too. For example, even if you are sending a product sample your valuation should at a minimum represent the cost of the materials it took to produce it.
